

Group Commitment Sample 1

Because I share the hope of a relational transformation in myself and my community, and because I desire a collective sharing of resources to meet the needs of those I am in relationship with:

1. I commit [amount] of my financial resources to the community of [Common Change Group Name] for at least [time period] through the Group Fund.
2. I commit to discovering and honestly sharing the needs of my community. My commitment to Common Change is an effort to create personal relationships with others across lines of class, race and geography. It is an attempt to participate in the needs of the larger human community in a more intimate and financial way.
3. I commit to reconciliation through relationships, and I actively seek opportunities to do so, and I believe Common Change provides this opportunity in a seamless platform of redistribution.
4. I commit to sharing myself in meeting the needs of those brought before the community by other members of [Common Change Group Name].
5. I commit to participate in this need-meeting by actively making myself informed on the needs brought before the Group, and
6. I am committed to sharing questions, ideas, suggestions and blessings to best collectively decide how to meet the need.
7. I commit to being transparent and living responsibly with my finances, actively seeking ways to encourage and stretch my understanding and practice of redistributive economics, and my life as a socially conscious consumer. I invite all other members of [Common Change Group Name] to encourage and stretch my understanding and practice. Our collective participation helps make the voice of a new way be heard throughout the country and the globe.

Group Commitment Sample 2

Because I share the hope of a relational transformation in myself and my community and because I desire a collective sharing of resources between God's children to feed the hungry, clothe the naked, shelter the homeless, heal the sick, and visit the imprisoned:

1. I commit to live as an instrument of God's redistributive economy, by sharing [amount] of my finances through multiple streams of personal relational giving, including [Common Change Group Name].
2. I commit to discovering and sharing the needs of my community and freely giving to other communities in need locally and globally. My involvement in [Common Change Group Name] is an effort to create personal relationships with others across lines of class, race and geography. It is an attempt to participate in the needs of the larger human community in a more intimate and financial way.
3. I am committed to reconciliation through relationships, and I actively seek opportunities to do so, believing Common Change provides this opportunity in a seamless platform of redistribution.
4. I commit to collaborating with others in relational sharing and know those of [Common Change Group Name] invite me to do so with them.
5. I am invited to participate in need-meeting by actively making myself informed on the needs brought before the [Common Change Group Name], and
6. I am willing to share questions, ideas and blessings to best collectively meet the need.
7. I commit to living responsibly with my finances, actively seeking ways to encourage and stretch my understanding and practice of biblical economics, and my life as a socially conscious consumer.